ABOUT THE RYIL

The Roman Yearbook of International Law (RYIL) publishes works addressing relevant issues of international law with specific attention to the contemporary practice of the Holy See and the Vatican City State.

The goal is to provide a forum for scholars to publish innovative researches contributing to the international law debate while analyzing the contemporary practice of one of the oldest members of the international community.

The RYIL is a double-blind peer review journal published in an on-line version and in printed form.

The RYIL is supported by the Circolo di diritto internazionale di Roma (CIDIR), a cultural circle based in Rome and aimed to foster the interest towards studies and researchers addressing public international law.

SECTIONS

Focus Theme: this Section contains Articles focused on a particular topic chosen by the Board of Editors.

General Articles, Notes and Comments: this section contains Articles, shorter Notes and Comments addressing general issues of international law and practice, focused on Current developments of international law, History and General theory, and the relation between Ethics and Religion and international law.

Contemporary practice of the Holy See and the Vatican City State: this section collects and systematize the contemporary practice of the Holy See the Vatican City State, as well as the practice of States and other subjects of international law relating to the Holy See and the Vatican City State.

Deadline

Submissions, including a statement of affiliation, brief abstract and confirmation of exclusive submission, shall be sent by 28 February 2019 via e-mail at the address: submissions@ryil.org.

Language

The RYIL publishes manuscripts in English.

Double blind review

All manuscripts submitted will be evaluated for their scientific quality and contribution to the academic debate. They will be subject to double blind review.

Statement of Affiliation

Authors must provide a brief statement of affiliation in the first footnote of their manuscripts.

Abstract and Keywords

Manuscripts must include an abstract (100-200 words) and keywords (6 to 8 words).

Original Work

Authors must confirm that the manuscript they wish to submit has only been submitted to the RYIL, that the article has not been previously published and that it is not currently under consideration for another Publication and/or by another Publisher.

Length Requirements

Word counts for manuscripts vary by Section. These counts are therefore intended as guidance rather than as strict requirements. Submissions significantly above or below these ranges may be returned to authors for revision. All word counts are inclusive of footnotes.

Reference style

Footnotes and reference must be presented according to the Oxford Reference Style.

Editorial policy

The Editors accept manuscripts with the understanding that the contents are original and unpublished materials and that they have not been submitted for publication elsewhere.

Authors using previous and unpublished materials (working papers, research-projects, lectures, conferences, short shots etc.) or their parts must indicate their intentions at the time of the submission.

Authors submitting manuscripts consent to the double blind review process and expressly confirm that their manuscripts have not been submitted and are not under consideration for publication elsewhere. Double submissions will be rejected without exception.

Authors intending to republish RYIL's Articles (as well as Notes, Comments, or Reviews) must have the prior consent of the Editors.

The Editors reserve the right to return manuscripts if they do not meet RYIL's standards. If a manuscript is accepted for publication but does not conform to the RYIL's standards, the Editors reserve the right to return the manuscript to the Author for revisions.

Authors have the right to make final corrections to the proofs prior to printing within the given deadline, bearing in mind that only minor corrections can be made to proofs.

Authors of published Articles, Notes, Comments and Reviews receive an off-prints of the Issue.

The CIDIR has the ownership of the copyright of any published manuscript.

The opinions expressed in the RYIL are those of the authors and do not necessarily represents the official policy or position of the Holy See and the Vatican City State.
